Editorial.

School numbers continue to increase, but unfortunately the circulation of the magazine does not increase in proportion. Let us hope that you who are reading these words in a borrowed copy, will blush for shame, and hasten to purchase a copy of your own. A word, too, to those who sometimes criticise their magazine. If you think there is any reform needed, why not bring forward constructive suggestions, and above all, why not send in matter for the magazine? All readers could help by letting the Editor know of any items of news they hear about old pupils, or any items of general interest that should be included in School Notes.

As these words are being written, term is rapidly approaching its end, but there are still a few important events to come. The first in order of date is the Senior Social, due to take place on December 12. If it is as enjoyable as the Junior Social, the Seniors can look forward to a very jolly evening. We hear that great preparations are being made to make the evening a successful one. It is to be hoped that Thursday evening's hilarity will not make the Seniors too weary to pay their usual keen attention to the speeches at the prize-giving on the following afternoon.

The cast of "To Have the Honour," not to mention the producer, are working hard to give their audiences a good show on December 18 and 19. It is to be hoped, for their sakes, that the hall will be full at both performances. We need have no hesitation in recommending the production, as, not only is the play itself extremely witty and entertaining, but most members of the cast had excellent experience in "The Admirable Crichton," last year, and may thus give an even more polished performance than they gave then.

The Eisteddfod.

The Exhibition of work sent in for the Arts and Crafts section of the Eisteddfod was held in Rooms 9 and 10 on the afternoon of Friday, November 15. The display was supplemented this year by a selection of work done in Art and Woodwork during the year 1934-5, and there is no doubt that the whole exhibition was much appreciated by the large number of visitors who came to see it. At the end of the afternoon, the Folk-Dancing Competition was held in the Hall, the attendance at this being even larger than that of last year.

The total points to date are:—Picton, 66; Glyndwr, 53; Tudor, 43. Details are as follows:—

Sports Day.

The School sports were held on Wednesday, July 24th. We were again lucky enough to have excellent weather, and the event proved to be very successful. The performance of both boys and girls in the competitive items was fully up to the standard of the previous years, and the event was equally well-patronised by parents and friends. Several of the Governors acted as judges.

School Activities.

DEBATING SOCIETY.

Circumstances permitted only one meeting to be held during this term by the Debating Society, but this debate, though the attendance was small, proved very interesting. The motion before the house was " That jazz provides the best musical entertainment." The speakers for the motion were W. Thomas and M. Mathias, whilst those opposing were M. Gibbon and Madge Davies. Both openers were violent in their condemnation of the other's principles, and after the four speeches had been concluded, the argument from the floor became equally heated. Jazz was, strangely enough, in great disfavour with the Staff, but received some firm supporters from the ranks of the Sixth and Fifth forms. When the vote was taken, in spite of the fact that all the Staff members present, eight in all, voted against, the motion was carried by a comfortable margin.

The committee for the year, chosen at the beginning of the term, was as follows :—Miss Bompas, Mr. Devereux, Margaret Rouse, Marjorie Mathias, G. Davies and W. Thomas.

It is hoped that time will permit more meetings next term, and it is hoped too, that more will attend them.

PLAY READING.

This winter term, we have been singularly unfortunate in the small number of play readings. Only one Thursday night was available for this branch of the school's social activities. On this occasion a one-act play, " The Legend," by Phillip Johnson, was read. There were four characters, the Reverend Fallows played by W. A. Thomas, Mrs. Reed by Bessie Gibby, Mrs. Walters by Madge Davies, and The Stranger by D. C. Lewis.

There was a good attendance, and everybody thoroughly enjoyed themselves. It is to be hoped that next term we may enjoy several playreadings.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The League of Nations committee regrets the unfortunate lack of interest in its affairs, which can only indicate a general decrease of intellectual power in the Upper School. They thank those people who took the trouble to enquire about meetings, and hope that the rest of the Seniors will, in future, better realise and support their responsibilities.

Memory Of Wales.

Where cold seas cradle in the western hills,
 Where Milford's silver tide swells on a bed
 Of silken mudbanks skirting sandstone shores,
 And old walls rear their mildewed stony heights,
 Pock-marked with windows, broidered with frail threads
 Of tendrilled ivy ; where the mountains weep
 Clear streams that pulse through bracken dipped in gold,
 And spread, to slake green meadows of their thirst,—
 There would I stay to hear the west wind sing
 Among the flaunting tops of wanton trees,
 To see the sun with dripping fingers paint
 Vermilion bars upon the evening sky
 And purple stains within the narrow creeks ;
 There would I watch the dark-sailed dipping boats
 Thread silent through the grimy bulk of ships,
 Blotting the guttering likeness of the moon
 Upon the restless waters of the bay.
 There would I feel the cool mist's haunting touch,
 The faint caress of softly-scented rains,
 There would I sleep beneath a castle wall,
 And know the peace of old enchanted Wales.

School Sports.

"Every man shift for all the rest and let no man take care for himself."—The Tempest.

TENNIS.

The Old Girls' match proved a grand finale to a very successful season. The team which opposed the Present Pupils included the following :—J. R. Tucker, B. May, G. and D. Williams, I. Mackintosh Davies, and P. Watkin.

The tournaments that concluded the tennis season this year were interrupted very little by Examinations and the finals were played off with plenty of time to spare, before the last day of term.

The senior finalists were G. M. Rees and M. O'Hara. G. Rees became School Champion for the second time in succession with a score of 6—2, 6—2.

The Junior School winner was J. Flutter, who beat P. Rossiter by 3—6, 6—3, 6—3 in the final of the Third and Fourth Forms' tournament.

Four girls received their tennis colours this year. They were M. Davies, A. Roberts, N. Collins, and M. O'Hara, who, with G. Rees and M. Mathias, made up the three couples in the School Tennis Team.

CRICKET.

Two more matches were played at the end of the summer season, resulting in the analysis : Won 6 matches, Lost 5 matches.

The team has had some close games, especially with Angle C.C., but has been helped considerably by the bowling of R. Hordley and the batting of J. Gibby, whose method of scoring was by sixes and fours.

The Old Boys' match was the most keenly contested of all, and would have proved a victory for the school had there not been some element of bad luck, and a compound of bad light, and a bowler who would lob. At the end of the game the sun was shining straight into the batsmen's eyes, and the School were batting. The atmosphere became more and more tense as the score crept up, but by a change of bowlers the last men were dismissed within 5 runs of victory.

The Old Boys' Team :—T. Owens (Captain), A. F. Morgan, H. Goodridge, L. Phillips, W. Smith, J. W. Morgan, A. Bull, G. Phillips, C. Rouse, R. Rees, M. Taylor.

July 17th, 1935—Old Boys, home ; lost 65—69 (F. Rogers 20, R. Hordley 6 for 26).

July 20th—Fishguard C.S., home ; won 51—24 (J. Gibby 4 for 10 ; R. Hordley 5 for 11),

Can anybody inform the remaining Committee whether leather jackets are worm or weed ?

Cricket Colours were awarded to W. Betty and E. Johnson.

HOCKEY.

The hockey season so far has not proved unusual, for winter has approached in no different way this year, and the team has been forced to play in drizzle, sleet, and torrential showers—once indeed, at Tenby, the match was played on the marshes, in a sodden field which was almost surrounded by great expanses of flooded land.

Despite such drawbacks, the team has put up some splendid fights, especially against Taskers, when the score mounted, with first a goal on one side, then on the other, until five all was reached within a few minutes of the final whistle, and the game continued fast and furious to the end, with neither side able to gain a winning goal.

The first XI was selected from the following:—*M. Mathias (Capt.), *B. Gibby (Vice Capt.), *G. Rees (Sec.), *N. Henderson, D. Robinson, M. Davies, D. Nevin, G. Evans, H. Williams, G. Lewis, M. O'Hara, J. Flutter, E. John, November 23—Milford Central School (away). Drawn 1—1.

FOOTBALL.

The Committee elected at the commencement of the season was as follows:—W. A. Thomas (Captain), F. J. Denzey (Vice-Captain), G. Davies (Secretary), and L. Thomas.

The School team this term, although possessing at the beginning of the season only two old "colours," has had a fine record of wins. Up to the time of going to press, nine matches have been played, seven of which have been won, one drawn, and only one lost, the latter an unfortunate game against Narberth County School, in which the School team had an off day. Apart from this lapse, the team's performance has been altogether commendable. A notable win was that over Fishguard County School, a team which has always proved a very difficult proposition to us. Another pleasing feature was the fighting spirit displayed by the whole team; for though in arrears at certain periods against Tenby and Milford County Schools, on each occasion the team fought back and brought off fine victories. 37 goals have been scored, whilst only 18 have been conceded. It is hoped that this fine record will be maintained. Two matches remain to be played, namely those against Hundleton A.F.C., and the Old Boys, both of which should test the team's ability to the utmost. It is some years since the Old Boys have been beaten by the School, but this year's School team may have a surprise in store for them.

The team has been selected from the following:—

W. Thomas*, F. J. Denzey*, R. Hordley, G. Davies, E. Williams, W. Betty, L. Thomas, F. Johnson, B. Parry, H. Grey, H. Jones, H. Griffiths, F. A. Denzey and T. Kelleher.

School Notes.

This term there are 380 pupils in school—228 girls and 152 boys.

The Prefects are:—

Tudor—Betty Davies, Lily Prickett, Joyce Johns, F. P. Rogers, H. Pearce, R. J. Wilson.

Picton—Audrey Humphreys, Gwyneth Child, Gwyneth Rees, W. A. Thomas (senior), Grahame Davies, Horton Jones.

Glyndwr—Marjorie Mathias (senior), Bessie Gibby, Audrey Badham, Edgar Thomas, Leslie Thomas, F. Denzey.

We should like to extend a hearty welcome to Miss Bompas, who joined the Staff as Latin mistress at the beginning of the term, in place of Miss Roberts.

Congratulations to Dorothy Clements on being awarded a Caroline Williams Scholarship of £25 on the result of the Higher Certificate.

Betty Davies has been awarded the Mrs. Rees, Ty-Gwyn, Scholarship in succession to E. J. Gibby.

Myfanwy Marendaz was appointed as telephonist in the Post Office at the beginning of November.

Ada Collins and Iris Roberts left school during the term to become observation teachers at Albion Square School. Dilys Jenkins left early in December for similar work in Pembroke.

The School has paid two official visits to the Cinema this term, and both were much enjoyed. On the morning of Wednesday, October 30, we were given a lantern lecture on "Coal," by Dr. North of the National Museum of Wales. Then on Thursday afternoon, November 21, the whole school, with very few exceptions, went to the Cinema to see "David Copperfield." In spite of a fair amount of weeping over the sadder parts of the story, there is no doubt that the film was greatly enjoyed.

Dr. North paid a second visit to the School on Thursday, December 5, when he gave a lantern lecture to the Vth and VIth, on "Austria."

On Wednesday, November 6, we enjoyed a very welcome holiday to celebrate the wedding of the Duke of Gloucester to Lady Alice Scott.

The Junior Social, held on Friday, November 29, was acknowledged by all to be one of the best parties that have been held in recent years. In spite of the fact that, owing to lack of time, the usual short play had to be left out, everything went with a swing, and all enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

During the week beginning Monday, December 2, the County Medical Officer visited the school for the annual medical inspection.

It was with a sense of great shock that we heard of the sudden death, on October 12, of Ronald Street. He had been, apparently, in the best of health on the Friday, and it was difficult to realise that the news was really true, more especially as he was always so bright and cheerful, and one whose loss is still deeply felt in class and in all walks of school life. We can do no more than offer his family our deepest sympathy. They will need no assurance that this sympathy is very sincerely felt by all of us.

A large number of pupils have left school since the last Penvro appeared, seven having gone to Universities and Training Colleges: Dorothy Clements being now in Cardiff University College, Nita Collins at Furzedown, Morwyth Davies and Gwen Gwyther at Swansea Training College, Lorna Griffiths at Stockwell, Lil Morris at the College of Domestic Science, Cardiff, and E. J. Gibby at Bangor Training College. Eric and Brian Foss are at a secondary school in Sandown, Isle of Wight, Iris and Gordon White at Luton High School, Sheilah Reynolds at Narberth County School, Tom Bowling at Llandovery College, and Leonard Silcox at a School in Llanelly. We wish them all happiness and success in their new life.

In addition to these our very best wishes to these others who have also left:—

Lower VI—Olive Canton, Beryl Claypoole, Olive Williams,

Bert Davies, G. Denner, D. F. Hordley, C. Isaacs, E. G. Rees, J. Utting.

VA—Nancy Gibby, Miriam Gwyther, Hilda Miller, Audrey Roberts, Freda Skryme, Flo Utting.

VB—Freda Charles, Nancy Jenkins, Marjorie Jones, Myfanwy Marendaz, Winnie Roberts, Phyllis Griffiths.

VS—D. C. Davies, E. B. Edwards, R. F. B. Fish, R. W. Liniker, T. J. Smith.

IVB—Nesta Williams, G. Bodman, A. Earushaw, J. Garlick, I. Skone, R. Thomas.

IVC—Rosemary Claypoole, Pansy Glue, Betty Merriman, Joy Williams, C. V. Childs, W. E. Dixon, G. Gwyther, J. Prout.

IIIA—Patricia Bowling, A. Duff.

IIIB—Alfred Jones.

IIIC—Jenny Rees.

We hope that now that these have become Old Pupils, they will not lose their affection for the School, and their interest in its work and play. We shall certainly be interested at all times to hear how they are getting on.

To those who have just come to us we offer a very hearty welcome. May their school life be very happy. The new pupils who have entered this term are:—

VA—Dorothy Dyke.

IVB—R. A. Little.

IIIA—Eva Kelly.

IIIB—R. Wilds.

IIIC—Tamara Green, S. N. Hood, H. C. Greenslade.

IIA—Gwendoline Badham, Eileen Barrett, Sylvia Bevan, Joyce Bowen, Joan Greenhow, Kathleen Hiatt, Barbara John, Joan Main, Joyce Owen, Mary Richards, Enid Simpson, Sonia Stuart, Vera Williams, Loraine Woodhouse, J. W. Blencowe, D. T. Cole, W. A. Crowe, W. J. Davies, K. R. Edwards, E. M. Evans, D. A. Harris, B. G. V. John, W. Lees, W. H. Mills, R. P. Morgan, G. S. Pendleton, M. Phillips, A. H. Rouse, C. J. Walters, J. I. Woolcock.

IIB—Jean Bowen, Nesta Davies, Mary Dony, Barbara Handley, Florence Heath, Audrey Hill, Olwyn Hood, Olwen Monk, Una Mullins, Ivy Perry, Dorothy Powell, Kathleen Sherlock, C. Addems, E. Carr, W. Carr, E. Charles, G. Clark, G. Ellis, J. Gaddarn, C. Hobbs, J. Hopkins, C. Jelley, J. McCarthy, J. Prout, R. Prout, D. Rees, E. Sutton, C. Thomas, E. Thomas, G. Thomas.

IIC—Blanche Adams, Joan Allen, Ida Budden, Kathleen Culley, Gwen Deakin, Joyce Freeman, Barbara George, Pamela Gwyther, Marion Hall, Joy Lewis, Alfreda Manning, Nance

Merriman, Josephine Morris, Alicia Sabido, Ellie Shears, Edna Skyrme, Joyce Snow, Margaret Stephens, Doreen Stewart.

Old Pupils' Notes.

Congratulations to T. A. Owens on passing his Intermediate B.Sc. at King's College, London, last July.

Molly Wells was successful some months ago in passing the Examination for State Nurses, as well as her Hospital Examination.

Hugh Baker and Dudley Sutton both passed the Oxford School Certificate at their secondary school in Portsmouth last July; Sutton with London Matriculation equivalent. They are both hoping to go to training colleges next October.

Margot Gray has passed her examination at the Dispensing College, and is now qualified to act as dispenser.

We offer our heartiest congratulations to Mr. W. J. Gwilliam on being elected Mayor of the Borough for the year 1935—6. He is, as far as we know, the first Old Boy to achieve this distinction.

Congratulations to Sandy Manning on being elected captain of the Tenby R.F.C. for this season.

Mary Thomas was, in September, appointed Cookery Mistress at a Central School in Barking, Essex. She tells us that Ethel Foreman, who took a degree at Bangor, is on the staff of the same school.

W. A. Sutton, who left here for Portsmouth some years ago, has a post in the Customs and Excise Department of the Government, and is stationed at Ipswich in the same office as Percy Bevans.

Kenneth Davies has been appointed to the Coronation School. He left us some eight years ago to go to Portsmouth, where he completed his school career.

D. J. Griffiths, after completing his degree at Aberystwyth last June, is now following a post-graduate course in Business Administration at the London School of Economics. It appears that it is not easy to get accepted for this course, and that there are high hopes of an appointment at the end of it.

Early in the term, Dorothy Brown was appointed to Haverfordwest as telephonist.

Frank Hobbs has been appointed as curate in Laugharne.

Eric Foss tells us that he is playing regularly for the First XI at Sandown Secondary School.

Lorna Griffiths is playing net ball for the first team at Stockwell Training College.

We heard with very deep regret, early in the term, of the death at sea of Mrs. Dodgson (née Miriam Travers). It does not seem very long since she was at school, and a regular member of the hockey team. We offer our deepest sympathy to her husband and to her parents.

We are pleased to offer our congratulations to the following Old Pupils on their marriage:—

Aug. 16—Sylvia Polhill to Mr. W. G. Holland, of Milford Haven.

Aug. 21—L. E. Nelson to Miss B. Lloyd Jones, of Blaenau Festiniog.

Aug. 24—(at Christ Church, The Pas, Manitoba, Canada), Dorothy Baker to Mr. Basil Keddie, of The Pas, Canada.

Aug. 27—J. V. Morgans to Blanche Davies (both old pupils).

Sept. 12—I. J. Sabido to Miss R. Curtis, of Swansea.

Oct. 2—Iris Waters to Mr. D. M. Harris.

Oct. 19—Albert H. Davies to Muriel Parnell (both old pupils).

Nov. 30—Anita Watkin to C.S.M. H. Humberston, Royal Fusiliers.

Congratulations also to Mrs. Victor Morcombe (née Winnie Bull), on the birth of a daughter, Patricia.

We should like to remind Old Pupils of the Reunion arranged to take place at the School on Friday, December 27.

May we also remind those Old Pupils who have subscribed to the Magazine that their subscription for 1935 (one shilling) is now due, and should be sent to the Editor at the School.

A Trip To Bruges.

The 20th of August was a red-letter day in the lives of a dozen pupils of our School, for on that day we set out on our journey to Bruges. The first part of the journey was not particularly interesting—train journeys seldom are, to my mind. When we arrived in London, we were ready for a rest and a meal, after which we visited Westminster. It was more exciting for those of the party who had never been to London before, to see Big Ben, the Cenotaph and all the Westminster Buildings.

The following morning we left for Victoria station, from where we started for Dover. We crossed on the "Prince Charles," and I think most of us eyed "him" rather dubiously, for we had heard curious tales of seasickness and the like. I, for one, was not so very sure of the packed lunch I carried, because amongst the large assortment was an enormous meat pie!

Well, we all managed to reach Ostend without any mishaps, and the boat was greeted by crowds of holiday makers who had thronged to the pier to see the boat come in. Amongst the porters,—who, I must say rather scared us because they were very rough, and shouted volubly at us in Flemish—was a cheery man, who was the guide for Sir Henry Lunn's company. We immediately adopted him as "Uncle Henry," and our new relation led us off to the customs. The customs-officer eyed us, not without suspicion, and seeing Miss Loosemore, enquired, "How much children haff you? Twelfe?" He passed us, and we boarded the train for Bruges.

We were met at Bruges by Mrs. Halding, who was our guide for the following week. She saw us safely installed in taxis—quite different from ours and we were driven at a terrific speed, zig-zagging across the roads, to the "Hôtel Cosmopolite." Our host and hostess were very kind to us, and after dinner that evening, suggested that we should go to the bell concert in La Grande Place.

The experience was unique, the cobbled roads and pavements the gaily painted chairs and tables set out in the street, the people themselves, and most of all, the language, were very exciting for us. We drank coffee and ate ice-cream, and listened to the bell concert from the famous Belfry of Bruges.

Although we were tired out, I do not think we often overslept. The bells and the terrible screeching motor horns awoke us every morning; I think it is only fair to say that it was the noises that awoke some of us, the rest is better left unsaid.

On the following day, Mrs. Halding took us round Old Bruges. She showed us round La Grande Place, the Place du Bourg, the Chapel and Museum of the Holy Blood. In this chapel the chief sight that interested me was the magnificent golden casket studded with precious jewels of every kind. It held the receptacle containing the Holy Blood. On Friday, we went to this chapel to see the ceremony enacted which was connected with the Holy Blood. The priest sat at one of the altars, and in front of him on a cushion lay the Holy Receptacle containing the Blood of Christ. By his side sat an armed policeman; one by one the people filed past and kissed this little cylinder, as a token of their devotion.

It was very solemn, and rather wonderful in the dark church, with the faint light of the candles and the pungent smell of incense from the swinging censer.

We visited the Marriage Hall and Notre Dame Cathedral. Here we were particularly interested in the statue of the Christ Child and Mary, sculptured by Michael Angelo, and also in some costly paintings.

Here in Bruges, even the common-place things of everyday life excited us, because the whole atmosphere was so different from anything we had ever experienced. We decided to climb the famous belfry, because no visit to Bruges would have been complete without that. There were three hundred and forty steps in that tower. Yes, it did sway, and it was quite dark on the narrowest bends, so that it made you feel that you wished you were down in La Grande Place again—I did, at any rate. It was generally on these bends that we met about half a dozen very excited French people all anxious to get to the ground again. We had a marvellous view from the top of the Belfry, and ate plums and pears to the deafening peals of the enormous carillon bells.

I think I should mention that we had some difficulty with the gentleman who took our entrance money. He was quite indignant that one member of the party—who was not very big, by the way—should call herself a child, and thus get in for half price. A heated argument followed, and he cried, "Ce n'est pas un enfant!!" As a result we all had to pay full price, much to our dismay, because there were not nearly so many francs left in our purses as there had been that morning.

On the following Saturday, some of our party got up very early to go to the market in the street nearby.

They returned with several cactus plants which were particularly interesting because they were so tiny, they cost about a franc. Need I say, that when we arrived in England, the customs officer absolutely refused to allow them to have their plants, and after considerable correspondence, and paying of taxes, that they were eventually retrieved. I think they are amongst their most treasured possessions now.

On Sunday we went to church. I don't think we can say that a service is amusing, but this was certainly rather extraordinary; the preacher asked if the English girls would sing to their Flemish brothers and sisters. They consented, and prepared to sing, but unfortunately no one knew the hymn that was chosen. I think after the experience they had, they will never forget "Bringing in the Sheaves."

The trip to Zeebrugge was very much enjoyed. We set off about 2 p.m. and went by charabanc. Unfortunately it started to rain, and we were unable to walk out on the Môle. We did however, see the statue of St. George and the Dragon, and the Museum there, and we heard a very interesting lecture on the attack on Zeebrugge by the British Navy.

Another trip to Sluis had been arranged for us, and that was equally enjoyable. We went by tram to the canal, and thence by boat to Sluis. We were all fascinated by the lovely water lilies that were growing on the canals, in spite of the horrid green slime that was floating on the water's surface. On board, we met a gentleman who had been staying with one of our School governors a week previous to our visit. Mr. Sanders, for that was the gentleman's name, was a very enjoyable companion, and accompanied us on our tour round Sluis. We were all thrilled with the Dutch ladies and the real Dutch clogs that were displayed in all shops. The most exciting trip of all, I think, was the one to the Battlefields. We left Bruges early in the morning, and drove for miles along straight stretches of cobbled roads lined with trees. Our guide showed us many relics of the war as we drove to Ypres; we passed the vast German cemeteries, with their gaunt black crosses arranged symmetrically over the burial ground. I don't think we can really appreciate what an awful thing the great war really was, until we see these vast, quiet cemeteries, with their crosses and tombstones keeping silent watch over the precious fallen lives. We passed along the Paschendaele Ridge, and through war villages like Roosebeke, whose houses still bear bullet holes and shell scars. At the Tyne Cot cemetery, we halted for a while so that we could see the graves of our own countrymen, who gave their lives for us and their country in the War. Most of us gathered a few lavender flowers or rose leaves as a little souvenir of the cemetery.

We saw the French and Belgian cemeteries also. Then we arrived in Ypres, and were attracted by the beautiful cathedrals, (so different from our own), and above all, by the Menin Gate. I cannot remember the names of all the villages, all the famous landmarks and war relics that we saw, but the chief were "Hell Fire Corner" and "Hill 60." Here we visited trenches, littered with sordid relics of the war years. At "Hill 60" was a monument erected for those who fought and died there. Further along the route we saw the magnificent Canada Monument, which was erected in memory of the soldiers who were gassed during the war. Then the villages of St. Jean and St. Julien, the Hindenburg Line, trenches and pillboxes were shown to us, and, feeling that we could not possibly take in any more information, we arrived at Dixmude for tea.

If there are many spelling errors in these names, you must pardon me, because the villages were passed in a flash and we were looking in all directions at once to see this or that relic, so that there was little chance to write correctly. Here at Dixmude was a tall column with the inscription;—

"All for Flanders, Flanders for Christ."

It is looked upon as a sort of shrine, because it is a sacred memorial to the Flemish.

The last part of our journey was spent in viewing the "Long Max," the well-known German gun that was used in 1914. It was tremendous in its dimensions, and made one feel rather glad that the Germans did not bring it to Calais to fire on Dover.

LILY PRICKETT, VI.
